LONDON, SATURDAY, January 27, 1733. NUMB. CXLVI.

A Leash of the fineſt Criticks in Natural Philoſophy of this Age, after repeated Debates and Conſultations, reſolv'd upon an Experiment more extraordinary than any in the Philoſophical Tranſactions. They had read, no doubt, of the Hatching-Ovens in Grand Cairo, and thence reſolv'd to make an Eſſay of a bolder Nature, in attempting to hatch in this leſs ſultry Climate a Gooſe-Egg in Winter. Thus ſtrangely ſanguine does the Strength of ſome Mens political Capacities render them. And to this Purpoſe, as that crafty Impoſtor Mahomet cunningly hook'd in a Monk and a Jew, to cook up his Meſs of myſterious Nonſenſe, a no leſs crafty Perſon, of the Claſs of thoſe the World ſtile Whigs, inveigled into this profound Project a zealous Jacobite and a bigotted Papiſt. Machines were mathematically prepar'd, and Ways and Means very learnedly concerted; the Reſult whereof was, each ſhould ſit his Week, and the Week over (for they had collected from Hiſtory and Tradition, that every Gooſe muſt ſit her Month) ſhould be alternate, for the Eaſe of their ſeveral Corporalities. To give the Chick Spirit, Snarl, who was the Grand Projector, was by Agreement to ſit the firſt Week; to enlarge its Squaul, Giddy was to ſit out the ſecond; and to perfect the deſir'd Production, Soto had the third appointed him; but with this prudential Addition however, that he ſhould have Pipes and Porter conſtantly by him to make him ſit cloſe. Three Weeks the Sages had ſat over in tolerable Plight, and half the fourth was paſs'd without Appearance of any Diſaſter; when Snarl, of all the three by much the moſt perſpicacious, ariſing from the Mathematical Machine, obſerv'd upon his lower Linnen egregious Stains of dubious Nature, that had a Tendency in Complexion to an Egg's yellow Yolk. The Man was overjoy'd, aud yet moſt virtuoſoly alarm'd: He well imagin'd it a Birth-like Sign, but ſtill with the tender Apprehenſion, that its Colour aboded Untimelineſs, Not wholly to rely upon his own Sagacity, a Conſultation was immediately propos'd, and as ſoon as propos'd agreed to. When, on a Scrutiny moſt intricately ſage, the Reſolution taken was, with a Nemine contradicente, that all as yet was ſafe. It's true the Egg was ſomewhat crack'd a-top; and thence they very naturally deduc'd, that all the Stains they found on Snarl were the Effluvia only of the approaching Harveſt of their Labours. Thence Giddy took again the Stool, and Soto next ſucceeded.

But ah! how brittle are the Hopes of Man! What are the Promiſes he makes himſelf but gaudy Flatteries? Thus when the painful Month was over and compleated, and three Days over that, the Egg indeed remain'd, the Crack remain'd moſt viſible: But that, alas! was all: 'Twas neither widen'd or elated! Giddy on Sight hereof grew grievous fierce, and like a Heroe ſwore that Snarl had ſat too cloſe, and ſpoil'd the Noſtrum in the very Minute of Projection. To fortify his Sentiments, he appeal'd to the very Linnen of old Snarl: But, as Luck would have it, his Laundreſs having that very Morning brought home his t'other Shirt, the Man of Literature evaded the Appeal, and non-plus'd the Appellant. Giddy nevertheleſs perſiſted in his Accuſation, and Words had gone to Blows, had not kind Soto interpos'd, and thrown a mental Ave Mary or two for a Bleſſing on his friendly Endeavours. See the Effects of a well-apply'd Piety! In a Moment all was miraculouſly compos'd; when ſociably as the two Kings of Brentford, they walk Hand in Hand into the open Air, with Spectacles and Microſcopes, to examine into the Grounds of the Grand Miſcarriage. By previous Agreement, Giddy was to hold the Egg; Snarl with his Forceps, by gentle Means and wary Degrees, to open the Shell; and Soto was appointed to entertain them with Philoſophical Lectures, adapted to ſuch Diſcoveries as he ſhould make in the Operation. Proud of the Poſt aſſign'd him, the latter began with painful Rhetorick to expatiate; when unhappily bordering a little too much upon the Analogy of Smell and Look, between what he ſaw at preſent and what he had ſeen a few Days before, poor Snarl, who at beſt was ever teſty, loſt all human Patience, and had not his Hands had full Employ between his Forceps and his Spectacles, Battle had been moſt unavoidably renew'd. However, with the Member unengag'd, Snarl fail'd not to be-rogue him very critically. Words begat Words, and interrupted all their further Phyſical Lucubrations. When lo! a luſty old Damſel coming by gave Ear a-while to their elaborate Brangles; but unable to edify by their Jargon, What a Fuſs, ſays ſhe, do you make here about an Addle-Egg? And at one Toſs with the Back of her brawny Fiſt, ſends all the Subject Matter about their Faces. Poor Snarl, who ſtood in a direct Line, receiv'd from that advantageous Situation more than half for his Share; Giddy, a little upon the Oblique, receiv'd for his Part ſomewhat more than half the reſt; and tho' Soto might have equitable Cauſe of Complaint as to the Fairneſs of the Dividend, yet receiving what he had in an expanded Mouth, he did not ſeem at all unſatisfied in the Robbery. True it is, he hauk'd a-while and ſplutter'd: But, the Paſſage being wide, and the Stomach empty, it ran down like ſo much Quickſilver, and he did not loſe a Quarter of what had been given him. Giddy however, as ſoon as he could clear his Eyes, ran about Mad-man like, to ſee if he could make uſe of them in the Diſcovery of the Offender. But ſhe, cunning old Hag as ſhe was, made off during the Cataſtrophe, and left her Heroe under the hot Scent, and cold Satisfaction of curſing the Defacer of his embroider'd Waſtcoat and clean Linnen. Snarl, poor Snarl, was the moſt melancholy Man under the Largeſs of his Benefactreſs. In the Affright he had dropt his Forceps, and loſt his Spectacles; and which was worſe, when found, they were broke and little worth. And yet this great Misfortune was, to him, attended with a greater. He knew not the Offender, no not ſo much as by Name, and therefore were all Reprizals wholly out of his Power. Like his Pſeudo-Friend and Acquaintance Horace, he could neither curſe Canidia in Ode or Epode: and the worſt of his Characters, in the very beſt of his Dramas, could never affect a Creature that perhaps could neither write or read. Criticiſm itſelf muſt ſtand enervated, where the Subject is beyond the Comprehenſion of the Critick. He wip'd his Face, and ſtamp'd, and ſwore, and wip'd again. As for his Cloaths, they were no Part of his Concern; and indeed they were rather benefited by what they receiv'd than otherwiſe; a Sort of Varniſh ſupplying the Want of a Nap, which had long left them. Yet the Affront was not to be pocketed if he had any; however his two Sofias having left him (to avoid a Mob they ſaw gathering about them) he ſagely follow'd their great Example, and by ſtealing himſelf away, made a Retreat as decent as could be expected. But as ſoon as he found himſelf re-hous'd, and had recover'd himſelf and Time for Reflection, he remember'd that the old Anti-Philoſopher had call'd it an Addle Egg: So to be reveng'd on her in Effigy, he call'd for Pen and Ink, and then, with accuſtomary Virulence, wrote a very long two-penny Paper, to prove that Addle and Addiſon beginning with identical Letters ought, muſt, and ſhould, by him, for ever be deem'd ſynonymous. But how the Labour is, was, or ſhould be, receiv'd by Lovers of Truth and Virtue, ſince the Dead can't ſpeak for himſelf, may be the Subject of ſome future Paper.

Hor. Book 3. Ode 15.

FOR Shame leave off thy amorous Trade,
Nor ſtrive to prove a ſecond Maid;
Not Patch, nor Paint, nor all your Arts
Can captivate the Youngſters Hearts;
Then why d'ye ſigh, or wiſh it dark,
Frequent the Play-houſe and the Park;
Or with your wither'd Cheeks appear
Amongſt ſo many Moons a Star?
When, Chloris, after all, you'll be
An old Coquet of Three-ſcore three.
Phillis indeed may take the Air,
Or to St. James's Shades repair;
In her the blooming Graces ſhine,
And every Bluſh appears divine;
Venus herſelf attends unſeen,
Whene'er ſhe trips it o'er the Green;
Such Sports to youthful Nymphs belong,
And all the junior Choir become;
But ah! old Mother, fie on thee,
Thou wither'd Wretch of Sixty-three!
To Phillis all theſe Sports reſign,
The Mall, the Park, the bluſhing Wine:
Take Warning now, and aim no higher;
Go ſeek a Rug, and court the Fire,
And caſt aſide the amorous Lyre.

Grinning Honour.

FAR from the throng'd luxurious Town,
Lives an Inchantreſs of Renown,
Call'd Honour, who by ſecret Charms,
Pulls Swains from yielding Virgins Arms:
For her the Husband leaves his Wife,
Deſpiſes Pleaſure, Health and Life:
For her the Trojan Refugee,
Forgot the Cave and went to Sea;
By her the Daughter of the Sun,
Enſnaring Circe was out-done:
From whoſe bright Looks by Arts unknown,
She drew Ulyſſes to her own.
The ſilly Sweet-hearts ſhe bewitches,
Admire the Rods for their own Breeches;
Many (is't not a thouſand Pities,
A Lover's Brain ſo void of Wit is?)
Their Limbs ſhot off imagine Charms,
Where Sleeves hang dangling without Arms:
Other, t'a Leg of Fleſh and Bone,
Prefer a ſorry wooden one:
Some loſe an Eye, and ſay it's no Matter,
A Plaiſter on the Hole looks better.
In bloody Fields ſhe ſits as gay
As other Ladies at a Play;
Whilſt the wild Sparks on which ſhe doats,
Are cutting one another's Throats;
And when theſe wild Folks for their Sins,
Have all the Bones broke in their Skins,
Of her Eſteem the only Token,
Is t'have Certificates they're broken;
Which in grave Lines are cut on Stone,
And in ſome Church or Chapel ſhewn,
To People that neglecting Pray'r,
Have Time to mind who's bury'd there;
Till ſome half-witted Fellow comes
To copy what is writ on Tombs,
And then to their immortal Glory,
Forſooth, they're ſaid to live in Story;
A Recompenſe, which to a Wonder,
Muſt pleaſe a Man that's cut aſunder!
'Tis ſtrange that any other Woman
By Supercilious Men's call'd common,
Whoſe generous Love's of that Extent,
As to o'erſpread a Regiment:
Whilſt in this Sore'reſs it's no Crime,
To love whole Armies at a Time:
But then, they ſay, th' ill-natur'd Jade,
For all her Sparks, is ſtill a Maid;
Becauſe none e'er lay in her Bed,
Unleſs they firſt were knock'd o' th' Head.

SATURDAY, January 20.

YESTERDAY was held a General Court of the South-Sea Company, which Sir John Eyles, the

Sub-Governor open'd, (after reading the Minutes of the former General Court) by acquainting them, that the Matters before them, were the Conſideration of the Attorney-General's Opinion on the Caſe, whether the Company could properly treat with Spain for the Surrender of the Aſſiento Contract, or have Power to let out the Tonnage of their annual Ship without the Conſent of this Crown.

The Agreeing on the Dividend for the half Year ended at Chriſtmas laſt.

And Addreſſing his Majeſty, humbly praying him to continue Governor.

Whereupon the Court agreed to the Addreſs to his Majeſty, prepared by the Court of Directors, and left it to them to preſent in ſuch a Manner as they ſhould ſee fit.

And reſolved, That the Dividend ſhould be 2 per Cent. the Warrants to be payable the 13th of February.

The Sub-Governor then acquainted the Court, that Sir Thomas Geraldino had deliver'd in a Repreſentation explaining his former Propoſals to the Company for giving them an Equivalent, for the yielding up the Aſſiento Trade, and deſired to know whether that Paper, or the Attorney-General's Opinion on the Caſe relating thereto ſhould be firſt read; and the Court chuſing to read the latter, the ſame was read accordingly; and the Court deeming it a Matter of the greateſt Importance to the Company, thought it required a very ſerious and full Conſideration, therefore deferr'd it for further Conſideration,, at the next General Court.

Sir William Hammond, then began to make a Motion in Behalf of William Brett, Eſq; butthe Sub-Governor deſired his Patience, having one Thing more to mention to the General Court: And then ſpoke to them to the Effect following:

Gentlemen,

I take this Occaſion to return you my humble Thanks for the repeated Honours I have receiv'd, by having been four Times ſucceſſively choſen Sub-Governor of this Company, an Office of great Importance and Difficulty.

I need not ſay how deſirous I was ſome Years ago to have been reliev'd from ſo preſſing a Load of Buſineſs, it being well known to many Gentlemen now preſent. My Conſtitution has ſuffer'd very much, ſome Accidents having increas'd the Labour of your Service, as my Strength grew leſs able to bear it.

The Application that I have given of my whole Time to your Service has been no more than my Duty to you required; and I ſhould have been happy indeed, if my Endeavours for your Service had been crown'd with Succeſs equal to my Wiſhes, or if I could have found more Unanimity in the Conduct of your Affairs.

But unlucky Incidents in Trade too often diſappoint the moſt ſanguine Hopes; and in the tranſacting Buſineſs ſo extenſive and complicated as yours is, Diviſions and Difference of Sentiments will ariſe, concerning either the Matter to be done, or the Manner of doing it, tho' all may intend the ſame Thing, the real Intereſt of the Company.

Concerning your Affairs in general, the Accounts that have been laid before you, have, I hope, already given you ſome Satisfaction, which I make no doubt will be render'd compleat, when the Examination of them ſhall be reported by the Committee appointed.

My Want of Health for ſome Time paſt having determin'd me to think no more of being a Candidate for this Station, which I have held for ſo many Years thro' your Favour, I lately acquainted your Directors with the Reſolution I had taken; I am now obliged to declare the ſame to you, and to deſire that ſome other Perſon may be thought of to ſupply my Place at the approaching Election.

At the ſame Time I beg Leave to aſſure you, that in all Situations, I ſhall be as inſtrumental as I am able to the Proſperity of this Company.

The Sub-Governor then pointed to Sir William Hammond to go on with his Motion; which he accordingly did, and deliver'd in the Repreſentation of the ſaid Mr. Brett, relating to a third Subſcription unclaim'd by him; and the ſame was referr'd to the Court of Directors, to relieve him in ſuch Manner as they ſaw juſt and reaſonable.

Then, upon the Queſtion, the Court adjourn'd.

On Monday Night laſt between Eight and Nine o'Clock, a Perſon unknown, went to the Houſe of one Mrs. Dodd, who keeps a Corn-chandler's Shop in White-croſs-ſtreet, and ask'd for a Halfpennyworth of Oatmeal, and ſaid, he would have a Quart or two of Peas, if her Kinſman was at home: but ſhe telling him he was gone out, he pull'd out a Piſtol, in Order to ſhoot her, but his Piſtol miſſing Fire, he then took out a Knife and then a Halter, ſaying, if ſhe did not give him 50l. one of them ſhould immediately diſpatch her out of the World: The old Woman ſtruggled with him for ſome Time, but he cut her on the Side of the Head, and at laſt got the Halter round her Neck and had almoſt ſtrangled her, when a Cuſtomer, who accidentally came and knock'd at the Door, and finding no Body come, lift up the Latch, went in, and ſaw what was done, cry'd out Murder, but the Fellow got to the Hatch, leapt over, and ſo got off. FOREIGN NEWS.

Moſcow, Jan. 22. N. S.

WE have Advice from Perſia, that the General commanding the Perſian Army againſt the Turks has receiv'd Orders to carry on the War with all poſſible Vigour, and that every Man in the Perſian Empire capable to bear Arms is oblig'd to repair immediately to the Camp. Thoſe Advices add, that the Ottomans are ſo ſurrounded in the Plain of Bagdat, that it is impoſſible to convey to them any Succours either of Men or Proviſions.

Schaffhausen, Jan. 10. N. S. We apprehend more and more, that the Imperial Pragmatick Sanction will sooner or later disturb the Repose of Europe. The Holy See has caused Monitories to be published in all the Churches of the Valteline, against the Deputies of the Grisons, that were at Tirano, for the Sentence they pronounced against the two Ecclesiasticks who committed the execrable Murder of the Podesta, or Bailiff of that Place; but they seem little anxious concerning the Consequences, looking upon themselves to be possessed of an equal Jurisdiction over the Clergy and Laity in criminal Affairs; and are resolv'd to maintain that Right to the utmost of their Power.

The Affair of renewing the Alliance with France is still in the same Situation, and no Body can judge what will be the Issue thereof. Mean Time 'tis believed one of the chief Obstacles which stops the Conclusion thereof, is, that the Catholick Cantons refuse to concur with the Protestant Cantons to a general Alliance, at least, that Zurich and Bern will not restore to them the Countries which they took from them in the late War, and which the Catholick Cantons had granted to them by the Treaty of Aran.

Leghorn, Jan. 10. The Republick of Genoa, is said to have come at length to the Resolution of releasing the four Corsican Chiefs, comformably to the Will of his Imperial Majesty, but makes fresh Instances, that they may not be receiv'd in Triumph at Milan. Some Advices from Algiers mention nine large Ships sail'd thence the 15th of last Month, for a certain Port of the Levant, to receive Troops and Ammunition promis'd them by the Grand Seignior, to put them in a Condition to renew the Siege of Oran.

Copenhagen, Jan. 11. N. S. It seems the Republick of Holland designs to oppose the Augmentation of the Commerce of this Nation in the East-Indies; and Mr. Greys, the King's Minister at the Hague, has written to his Majesty, that the Directors of the Dutch East-India Company propose to use all possible Means to oblige the Danes concerned in the Commerce of Tranquebar and China, not to fit out a greater Number of Ships for India, than they were wont to do before the new Privilege which the King granted them about two Years ago. This Letter from Mr. Greys having been read in the King's Council, the Secretary of State has since delivered to Mynheer Coyman, Envoy of the States-General, a Declaration of his Majesty, purporting, That by the Treaty of Commerce which he had renewed with the Republick of Holland, nothing was stipulated, which could be construed to limit the Trade and Navigation of his Subjects, and that he was resolved to protect them.

Vienna, Jan. 14. 'Tis assured that Mr. Robinson, Minister of Great Britain, has proposed to the Imperial Court an Expedient for terminating the Differences arisen touching the Titles which the Infant Don Carlos had assumed since his Arrival in Italy, and which had given Occasion to a Decree of the Emperor formerly mentioned; and it is added, that the Infant Duke will soon publish a Declaration, with which we flatter ourselves his Imperial Majesty will be satisfied.

Basil, Jan. 15. Colds are so rife in this City and Neighbourhood, that very few, either old or young, escape them; and when they are attended with a Fever, they generally prove fatal; so that great Numbers of People are swept away.

Vienna, Jan. 17. A Report goes, that the Court of Rome has enter'd into a Treaty with a certain crown'd Head, whereby the Possession of Castro and Ronciglione is to remain in the Holy See undisturb'd, on some special Conditions. They write from Aysch, a Village in Franconia, that the Wife of a Peasant was deliver'd there of a Male Child on the 14th of December last, on the 18th of another, and on the 21st of a third, who all died soon after they were born. Some Jew Merchants, charged with remounting the Imperial Cavalry, have Orders to furnish 10,000 Horses by the 15th of April next. Private Letters from Mecklembourg insinuate as if the Duke Charles Leopold will make a Tour to Petersburgh, to petition for Succours from the Czarina, his Sister-in-Law.

Paris, Jan. 28. The Discourse still holds good of an Alliance concluded between France and Spain. They talk also of the Count de Rothembourg's speedy Return from his Embassy at the Court of Spain, and that his Excellency will be employ'd in Quality of Plenipotentiary at the Court of some German Prince. They add, that M. de Vaureal, Bishop of Rennes, to whom the King has lately given the Abbey of Jouy, will be nominated Ambassador to Spain in his room.

Paris, Jan. 30. The Discourse of War begins to abate very much, both at Court and in the City; so that we are in great Hopes Affairs abroad will be adjusted by way of Negotiation, all the Powers of Europe being still sensible of the great Ills caus'd by the last War.

The Parliament is grown very assiduous in the Dispatch of Affairs, to make amends for the Time lost during their Vacation.

The City of Avignon is still block'd up on all Sides: The Religious belonging to the Convents there, have got Leave of the Vice-Legate to retire to their respective Friends and Relations, in the Provinces of Languedoc and Provence, for their Subsistence, till Affairs are settled, which at present bear but an indifferent Aspect.
